ANTI-BEER BILL WILL PASS SENATE IS BELIEF

LOOP HOLES IN U. S. DRY LAW WILL BE CLOSED

Senate To Pass Willis-Campbell Measure Early Next Week.

TO HOLD OFF ATTACKS

Senators Ready to Fight Efforts Against the Measure

Washington, Aug. 6.—Passage by Senate of the Willis Campbell anti-beer bill designed to close the loopholes in the national prohibition law which were revealed by Palmer's decision on March 3, will be accomplished early next week, Senator Sterling, Republican, South Dakota, who is in charge of the measure, predicted today.

Taking advantage of the Senate's week-end recess, Senators who favor the placing of additional and more drastic restrictions upon the use of intoxicating liquors for beverage or medicinal purposes prepared to withstand the attacks upon the bill which will be renewed Monday by Senator Broussard, Democrat, Louisiana, and others who declare that such legislation is unwarranted and unconstitutional.

Although he has failed in two attempts to fix a definite date for a vote on the beer bill, Senator Sterling remains confident that all amendments can be disposed of and a final vote taken before the middle of the week. In the meantime, those who oppose passage of the measure are continuing their demands for the issuance of the wine and beer regulations which have been held up by the bureau of internal revenue since the Palmer decision. Senator Nelson, Republican, Missouri, chairman of the Senate Prohibition committee, insists that Blair is acting in the interests of brewers and wine manufacturers in view of the fact that the passage of the bill is assured and that such rules would be of no consequence after its enactment.

HUNT FOR SLAYER OF AKRON BOY IS BEGUN BY POLICE

Body of Seven Year Old Lad Found In River.

Akron, Ohio, August 6.—Following the verdict early today that Walter Dennison, 7, was murdered and his body thrown into the Cuyahoga river, police today began a search for his slayer.

Reported lost, the police for several days searched for the boy without obtaining a clue to his whereabouts. Actuated by a mother's intuition, Mrs. Dennison late yesterday went to the banks of the river. There she found the body floating in a cove.

Coroner Kent was called and declared the body was dead before it was placed in the water as no traces of water were found in the lungs. The boy's face was smeared with a coating of tar.

Where the body was found, three sewers empty into the stream. Police advance the theory the boy was wading and drowned but the mother insists he was foully dealt with.

GERALDINE FARRAR SUED FOR DIVORCE

New York, Aug. 6.—Geraldine Farrar, world-famous American prima donna, has been sued for a separation.

Lou Tellegen, Dutch-Spanish-Greek actor, has taken his wife into Court in Westchester county.

Friends of the matinee idol say Tellegen, who has been so quick these last six years to fly with denial in the face of any rumor of domestic infidelity, now tells a tale of many grievances.

They say that two weeks ago Tellegen came to his home at an ordinary hour of the evening but was unable to gain entrance. He phoned to his home and servants informed him that he was not to be admitted during his wife's absence.

Miss Farrar and Tellegen combining the article with the home-like, a thing the world long has said, "simply couldn't be done" defied tradition.

DR. U. G. MURREL IS RE-APPOINTED

Columbus, August 6.—State Health Director Snively has announced the re-appointment of Dr. U. G. Murrel, Wilmington, as State Registrar of Vital Statistics.

HOT CONFLICT WILL BE FACED BY PRESIDENT

Executive and Legislative Branches in Struggle Over Taxes.

SEEK INTERVENTION
Policies of Treasury and Congress Differ Over Appropriations

Washington, August 6.—President Harding is coming home from his vacation to find another hot conflict in progress between the executive and legislative branches of the government.

It appeared certain today that only a presidential intervention could straighten out the tangle over the 1922 taxes and end the dispute between congress and the Treasury Department over how much is necessary to keep the wheels of the government turning for another year.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and his advisers, with an eye to the spending needs of the government, estimate the government will need $4,550,000,000 and they have put up to Congress the job of providing it.

Members of Congress with an eye to the coming congressional elections on which their political lives depend, estimate that these figures can be trimmed by at least $500,000,000, perhaps more. So far they have refused to figure on a national spending bill of more than four billion and a half dollars. And here the dead-lock exists. Both sides are standing pat and apparently waiting for some word from on high.

The principal difficulty is a difference in policy between the Treasury and Congress. The Treasury favors a "pay as you enter" policy with current bills paid on the spot from current revenues. Many leaders in Congress contend that this is unnecessary, that it is putting too heavy a burden on the public this year to expect the already weary tax-payer to take up the war-time slack in a single year. Why not, they contend, distribute these enormous tax burdens over several years and thereby lighten the load.

ROAD WORK BIDS MUCH LOWER THAN ESTIMATE OF COST

Bids are Received for Construction of 12 Miles of Highway.

Columbus, August 6.—Considerably lower than the total cost estimates, $622,064, of the state highway department's engineers are the numerous bids just received by the department relating to the proposed construction of 12 miles of highway in various parts of the state.

The low bid of $8,850 was submitted by the Canton-Friedman Company, Youngstown, on a water-bound base, for 1.49 miles of the Marion-Galion road, Marion county, V. G. Secord, Larue, submitted a bid of $10,877 for erection of a bridge on the Marion-Galion road. The highway department's engineer had estimated the cost of the bridge at $2,034.

R. H. Shater Company, Columbus, was low bidder, $59,878, on 1.192 miles of the Eaton-Middletown road, Butler county, the contractor to furnish the brick. The department's estimate for this work was $67,864. For macadam on this same highway the Ada Highway Construction was low bidder, $48,723. Although the department's figure was $122,998, John M. Henniss, Piqua, submitted a bid of $105,718 for resurfacing 4.15 miles of the Dixie Highway.

TEMPERATURE DROPS

Bucyrus, August 5.—There was a hard freeze in Bucyrus Tuesday, in certain portions, when the temperature dropped to below the freezing point in the new John C. Meyer & Sons ice plant and the first ice was frozen. The plant has a capacity of 50 tons daily. It is expected to start delivering the first freezing today.

Another Blow Is Dealt To Illegal Whisky

Prohibition Officials Take Action Against Sale of Bonded Liquors for Army Purposes—Thousands May Lose Licenses

Washington, August 6.—Prohibition officials struck another blow at illegal whiskey today. They screwed the lid tighter on bonded liquors for drug purposes. They began slashing into the permits of thousands of wholesale druggists. The prediction was made that hundreds would be cut off from whiskey supply. The permits of wholesalers who fall outside of a new test established will be revoked. As a result total withdrawals this year will be reduced by five million gallons, including distilled liquors of all kinds.

Commissioner Haynes said wholesale druggists, under the limitations now imposed by new regulations effective today will be compelled to confine their sales of non-beverage or medicinal whiskey to 10 percent their total sales. Haynes called in his staff of inspectors and arranged for an immediate check on the business of wholesalers for the past three months to determine their legitimate requirements.

All prohibition directors today were instructed to make an immediate inventory of stocks and sales of wholesalers and to supervise carefully the future withdrawals for medicinal or other purposes. Many large wholesalers by the new ruling will be forced to reduce their requirements by 75 percent on the basis of their business as shown by their books.

Cincinnati Nurse Refuses To Admit Fatal Shooting

Miss Olivia Stone Held in New York on Charge of Killing Common Law Husband, Ellis Guy Kinkead Prominent Attorney.

New York, August 6.—Miss Olivia M. Stone, Cincinnati nurse, charged with the murder of her alleged common-law husband, Ellis Guy Kinkead, prominent New York attorney, today absolutely refused to admit the shooting.

When arraigned in a Brooklyn court this morning she stated that she bought the revolver with which she shot in front of his residence at six p. m. yesterday is said to have been done, for her own protection, and that she came to New York merely to interview Kinkead and effect a reconciliation.

Miss Stone was hysterical when arraigned today and unable to tell a coherent story.

"You boys have not told the truth about me," she cried to newspapermen who were about the court house. She had under her arm a bundle of morning papers containing her alleged confession made after her arrest last night at a time when she did not know Kinkead had died from the effect of her shots.

Mrs. Marie Kinkead, widow of the murdered man, declared today that her husband gave up his practice in Ohio, and came to this city because of repeated threats of violence on the part of Miss Stone.

"I want it thoroughly understood," the young widow added, "that there is no malice in my heart because I am convinced that this woman is mentally deranged."

Kinkead, who was of distinguished appearance, and 61 years of age, first met Miss Stone in 1918, at the Cincinnati general hospital where she nursed him through a nervous breakdown. According to her story, he took her with him to Atlantic City while convalescent and there proposed marriage.

She agreed, whereupon, she says he informed her a certain woman in Cincinnati would "hound" him if she knew he was married and proposed a common law union.

Miss Stone alleges that they lived at several Atlantic City hotels as man and wife and later returned to Cincinnati where, in the following year Kinkead married Miss Gormley and moved to Brooklyn.

There is then a two years gap in the nurse's tragic story. In the spring of this year, two years after Kinkead's marriage, she bought a revolver and came to New York City in May, with the intent, she said, of killing him. Unable to discover Kinkead, she returned to Cincinnati, but this month again tracked him to New York, and stepping up behind him as he approached his home, fired two shots into his body. Kinkead turned upon her and she emptied the revolver into his chest, three more shots taking effect.

After the shooting when she thought Kinkead merely wounded, Miss Stone is said to have cried: "Is he going to live? I could go to the hospital now and laugh in his face. He was a dog. He ruined my life. If he lives, I think he will limp. I think I shot him in both legs."

Cincinnati, August 6.—Olivia M. Stone sought a warrant only a few days ago for the arrest of Ellis Guy Kinkead, here former common-law husband on a white slavery charge arising out of the trip to Atlantic City, U. S. District Attorney Clark, stated today.

When the District Attorney refused to issue the warrant, he says, Miss Stone left immediately for New York in search of Kinkead, vowing vengeance. Kinkead was married in August 1919 to Marie Louise Gormley, formerly of Lexington, Ky.

The first match today starts at 2 o'clock eastern time. Play will be on the courts of the Allegheny Country club at Sewickley.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 6.—Two matches of singles this afternoon will conclude the three days play in the Davis cup tennis second preliminary contest round. The winners of the matches here will pass into the semi-final round and it is generally believed will be the team which will meet the United States defenders next month in the east.

HARDING BEGINS RETURN TRIP TO OFFICIAL DUTIES

Week's Vacation In New Hampshire Comes To Close

GAINS SUPPORT

Disarmament Conference Plan Welcomed By Public, is Belief

Lancaster, New Hampshire, Aug. 6.—President Harding's vacation is on the wane today as he leaves New Hampshire's play ground to motor to Portland, on the first leg of his homeward journey. The President is returning to the capitol and his executive duties, rested by his unusual freedom from cares, just a trifle more tanned from many hours on the golf links and perhaps just a little heavier, thanks to New Hampshire air and coolness and New Hampshire cookery has played an important part in the presidential vacation for the chief executive has gloried in the hardy food of these hill towns in the pie belt.

No one can say how much pie or how many doughnuts he has eaten but certainly no one who has seen him at luncheon after 18 holes on the golf course has any reason to believe that Brigadier General Sawyer will ever have to tinker with the presidential digestive organs.

Some people take their vacations through complete rest, but President Harding gets his vacation relaxation by doing strenuously those things which he likes to do. Yesterday was a fair example of his vacation progress, for he motored two hundred miles, played 18 holes of golf, made four important speeches, held no less than three receptions meeting several hundred persons and today he was up bright and early, fresh and anticipating the 150 mile motor journey to the Maine port, where the Mayflower is at anchor. Aside from the rest which the President has enjoyed, he returns to Washington somewhat confident that he has gained some public support for his disarmament conference.

The President is pleased with the approval that has been expressed in the public gatherings which he has addressed.

The President is anxious to reach Washington in time for his regular cabinet meeting, and Commander Holmes of the Mayflower will make an effort to land the presidential yacht at the Washington navy-yard Tuesday morning. Final decision of the disarmament conference date and revision of taxation were the two subjects that the President will take up first when he again takes his chair at the White House.

There was some interest today to learn what reaction there would be in political and senatorial circles in Washington to the President's speech at Gorham last night when he declared that it is up to America to lead the way in rejecting the world and putting an end to the causes of war. It is probable that the presidential caravan which is sending up great clouds of dust on the White Mountain roads will halt early in the afternoon at Poland Springs, Maine, for luncheon. The President is due to sail from Portland at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

King Calls Meeting Of Crown Council To Discuss Plans.

Paris, August 6.—Alfonso, King of Spain, realizing the gravity of the situation in Morocco, where his troops have just suffered a crushing defeat was scheduled to hold an important conference with his leading statesmen today. The King, mindful of the Republican movement which has received powerful impetus by the Spanish reverses in Morocco has called what amounts virtually to a crown council. Meanwhile according to the latest news from Madrid, the Spanish government and the various municipal authorities are fearing disturbance as the national sentiment is greatly aroused by the latest developments in Morocco.

PRISON TO BE COMPLETED

MYSTERY HANGS OVER IRISH PEACE STATUS

AMERICAN WAR HERO HAS OPEN PASSAGE IN HEAD

Boston specialists are puzzled over the strange case of Harry Shanley, American war veteran, who has an open passage in his head extending from ear to ear. The former soldier can pass as many as fifteen buttons through one ear and out the other. He was in France with the Canadian army, when a German shell exploded over his head denting him. Although his vocal cords remain, physicians have told Shanley he will eventually lose his voice. Shanley can put a wad of paper in his mouth and remove the same from either ear. He is being treated at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary.

POLICE SEEK TWO YOUTHFUL BANDITS WHO WIELDED GUNS

Man, 68, Shot Despite His Pleadings For Mercy.

Columbus, O., Aug. 6.—Two young bandits, accused of shooting A. J. Thompson, 68, in the abdomen, are being searched for today by the police. Thompson was an attendant at a gasoline filling station near Bryden Road, and Parson Ave.

It is claimed that Thompson was seen kneeling on the sidewalk, in a praying position, with his hands clasped in front of him, when one of the highwaymen shot him and then ran away.

The cash drawer, containing $65 was not molested. Nothing was stolen from the station, it was said.

The bullet was removed from Thompson's abdomen. It is expected he will recover, if there are no complications.

U. S. NOW EQUIPPED TO BUILD MONSTER ZEPPELINS HERE

British Built Craft To Be Housed In New Jersey

Washington, Aug. 6.—Interest in the Z. R.-2 huge navy zeppelin which will arrive from over-seas shortly after August 25, was heightened today by the announcement that the United States now is in position to build her own zeppelins. The present airship was constructed over-seas, owing to the fact that the English possessed the only barge large enough for the purpose.

In the Lakehurst, New Jersey hangar, which will house the big ship on her arrival here, the government now has the facilities for future construction of as many such types as appropriations permit, according to the Navy Department. Possible construction of such a ship in the near future has been put off with the curtailment of naval appropriations for the current year.

LENINE TO VISIT ENGLAND IS WORD

London, Aug. 6.—Reports that Nicolai Lenine, Premier of Soviet Russia, is about to visit England were revived today in a dispatch from Reval which said that he would come to this country about the middle of this month. In his absence, the dispatch said, Leon Trotsky, Bolshevik War Minister, will be in full control at Moscow.

SITUATION NOW AS UNCERTAIN AS WEEKS AGO

Speculation Started as To What Will Happen if Parley Stops

HINT "NEW POLICY"

"Blood and Iron" Means Suggested for Final Usage

London, August 6.—A deep shroud of mystery continued today to veil the exact status of the Irish peace negotiations. So uncertain has the situation become owing to the consistent official silence as to what is going on behind the scenes that the press began today to speculate upon what will happen if it is suddenly announced that the pourparlers have broken down.

The Daily Express, conceding that this is a possibility, states that the government is over-hauling its organization with a view to doing one of two things, if the epoch-making peace attempt should be suddenly declared a definite failure.

1.—To appeal to the country to secure the passing of a new "Irish act."

2.—To ask the country's approval of a policy to be adopted in the case the Sinn Fein definitely refuses to accept the British government's offer.

Either alternative would involve new elections, it is believed. The "new policy" hinted at in the second would doubtless be one of "blood and iron" for there is no doubt anywhere that a break of negotiations would be followed promptly by resumption of hostilities on an unprecedented scale.

The Daily Telegraph today published an interview with an unnamed authority on conditions in Ireland who has just returned from that country. He declares that he was assured by priests and others in Ireland that if hostilities are resumed it will take at least three times the number of troops hitherto employed to deal with the rebels.

The Telegraph's information said he had met many Australians who had joined the Irish Republican army and who are experts in bomb throwing which they learned in the great war.

He further asserted that it is the opinion of priests and other responsible citizens in Ireland that failure of peace negotiations would be followed by an intensified campaign in Ireland and that the horrors of the last two years would be multiplied in every direction and this time would be extended into a "campaign of outrages," in England.

FARMERS OF MARION COUNTY UP IN ARMS OVER ROAD PLANS

Threats of Injunction Suits Being Filed Are Made.

Marion, O., August 6.—Farmers in Marion county are more determined than ever that the building of roads be stopped until the cost of material be lowered. After motoring through Marion on his way to Camp Perry, a few days ago, Governor Davis announced at Bucyrus that the Marion-Bucyrus road needed repairing and ought to be repaired at once. He also mentioned the fact that during the term of his predecessor nothing was said about the high cost of material because of the prevailing war conditions. Farmers in this county say they do not object to the Governor building roads but they do object to him building them when material remains at such a high figure. There are even threats of injunction suits being filed if further attempts are made to build roads at war-time costs.

DEATH SUMMONS CALLS PROMINENT SANDUSKY MAN

Sandusky, O., Aug. 6.—Charles L. Wagner, 69, founder of the Natural Ice business in the western Lake Erie section and for many years at the head of the Wagner Lake Ice Company, the largest concern of its kind on the Great Lakes, died at his home here shortly after midnight. He had been seriously ill only a few days. Since the Interstate Ice Company took over the Wagner Company, in 1910, Wagner had been at the head of the City Ice Delivery Company of Cleveland.

NEW BEER RULES COMPLETED
Washington, August 6.—Regulations which will permit the prescription as medicine of a case of beer at a time, without limit to the number of prescriptions, are understood to have been contemplated by the internal revenue bureau and now await the decision of Secretary Mellon as to their issuance.

BRYAN SUPPORTS HARDING'S PACIFIC CONFERENCE PLAN

St. Louis, Mo., August 6.—The world should look hopefully forward to President Harding's proposed disarmament conference, according to William Jennings Bryan erstwhile Secretary of State in the Cabinet of former President Woodrow Wilson.

"Those who have been hoping and praying for universal peace," declared Bryan, "have more reason than ever to be hopeful today. President Harding's proposed peace conference, if successful, will be the greatest gathering in centuries. The peace conference may end all wars."

Attacks Boose Law Enforcers.

When shown headlines in a local newspaper detailing the capture of two large whiskey stills, Bryan declared prohibition has come to stay.

"Prohibition is permanent, he declared emphatically. "Before prohibition went into effect carloads of liquor were shipped into the cities, hauled by drays to saloons on prominent corners and displayed alluringly on the shelves and in windows. Now liquor is brought in handbags at night by bootleggers who sneak through the alleys. That is some change. Where the law is not enforced it is mainly where the enforcing officers are not in sympathy with the law. An officer who beats down and listens to a debate between his appetite and his oath of office, before starting on a raid, is apt to arrive too late. It is something like allowing horse thieves to elect a sheriff."

"Besides those who aren't willing to cut out their own supply, we have those who are crooked; but we have the same problem to deal with in enforcing all laws. Many automobiles are stolen, but no one suggests that the law against automobile thefts be repealed."

The "wets," Bryan declared smilingly, thought the beer ruling by former Attorney-General A. Mitchell Palmer was a ray of sunshine.

"It turned out to be a ray of 'moonshine' he scoffed, "and the 'shine' will soon be taken out of it by an act of Congress."

"I don't see how beer can ever come back. If it cannot come back as a medicine how is it going to have a chance to come back as a beverage?"

The "wet" parade in New York on July 4 didn't have "one half of one per cent kick," Bryan said.

"The funeral obsequies of John Barleycorn are all over," he continued enthusiastically. "It was estimated that 300,000 persons would march in the New York 'booze cortege,' but it turned out that only 14,900 actually marched in the parade. Nine hundred of those were musicians, paid by sore-head brewery agents. The funeral services are sure over."

Supports Excess Profits Tax

The corpulent, many-time Presidential candidate also had a few remarks to make about taxes. The great question is not so much reduction of taxes, he asserted, as the selection of things to be taxed.

"The only tax repeal which has been vociferously demanded," stated Bryan, "is the excess profits tax. This should be the last tax repealed. It is a tax collected only on excess profits—that is the tax that ought not to be taken from the purchaser. It is the only tax that one can repeal himself, without seeking the aid or consent of anyone else. If he will stop stealing he will not have to divide with the Government."

The Commoner smiled broadly when I mentioned the Irish situation. "A new armistice day," was his description of the day Irish peace is established. It is difficult for anyone not actually affected by the Irish situation, he said, to understand all the difficulties to be overcome. The entire world will rejoice, he stated, if a basis of permanent peace in Ireland is reached.

Has the Democratic party a chance to "come back?" he was asked. "Indeed it has a very good chance to again gain control of the administration," he asserted emphatically.

"The reaction against the Republicans already has set in," declared Bryan. "It is possible for the Democrats to gain control of the next Congress if they will stand on the side of the people on all questions."

"The Democrats should select a progressive man in every district now represented by a Republican and put him to work discussing public questions in his district, with a view to winning the next Congressional election; not a man who will make a bid for the vote of the underworld, but a man—or a woman—who will appeal to the consciences of the voters as well as to their judgments, to women as well as to men—a man or a woman who will represent the masses instead of the profiteers and privilege hunters."

MUSHROOM TIME COMES AGAIN

It's mushroom time again. Many local people have been on mushroom hunting trips this week and although it is a little early they say that the mushrooms are coming up in large numbers, the rains bringing them out rapidly.

The fall mushrooms are not easily distinguished from the poisonous toadstools and people who do not know the difference are being warned to consult someone who can tell the difference.

MEN MAY BE HELD AS AUTO THIEVES SAY AUTHORITIES

Jimmy Clark and C. W. Jones arrested by Sheriff Funderburg and Deputy Day at the Fairgrounds Thursday, on warrants charging them with illegal trafficking in liquor, may be held as automobile thieves, according to the sheriff.

The men were arraigned in the Court of Magistrate J. E. Jones, Friday, and entered pleas of not guilty, their hearing being set for next Tuesday morning and the men remanded to the county jail in default of $500 bonds each. The sheriff became suspicious of the men when he was led to the belief that they gave fictitious names, and his investigation may hold them on a charge of auto theft.

The sheriff's suspicions were aroused when he found the name of W. F. Weitlauf, sewed in the lining of the coat worn by Clark. A card in "Clark's" pocket bore the name of the Morrell Shoe Company Inc., of Cincinnati, men's, women's and misses shoes, and also the name of W. F. Weitlauf.

When the men were arrested a Ford coupe in which they had been traveling was confiscated. The car bore the license number 427244, which an investigation showed had been issued to Wright Perkins, of 715 Burns avenue, Cincinnati, for a Cadillac car. The fact that the license number issued to Perkins for a Cadillac is now on a Ford coupe said to be the property of Clark and Jones increased the sheriff's suspicions and he wired Cincinnati to learn if the Cadillac had been stolen and the license plate transferred.

When arrested the men had four quart demijohns and a gallon jug full of liquor and one empty demijohn, hidden in the straw in a stall at the Fairgrounds stables, and it is believed they were selling the liquor from this stall. A .38 calibre Smith and Wesson revolver was also found in the automobile.

The sheriff permitted the men to write letters Friday and although they signed names they furnished, each added initials at the top of the page, that did not correspond with the names they gave the officials or with the name of Weitlauf. The letters were directed to friends asking them to furnish bond.

AN OPEN LETTER TO WOMEN

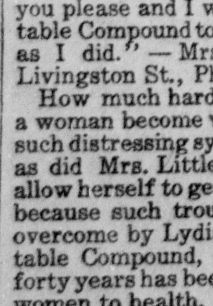

Mrs. Little Tells How She Suffered and How Finally Cured

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was not able to do my housework and had to lie down most of the time and felt bad in my left side. My monthly periods were irregular, sometimes five or seven months apart and when they did appear would last for two weeks and were very painful. I was sick for about a year and a half and doctored but without any improvement."

A neighbor recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me, and the second day after I started taking it I began to feel better and I kept on taking it for seven months. Now I keep house and perform all my household duties. You can use these facts as you please and I will recommend Vegetable Compound to everyone who suffers as I did."

—Mrs. J. S. LITTLE, 3455 Livingston St., Philadelphia, Pa.

How much harder the daily tasks of a woman become when she suffers from such distressing symptoms and weakness as did Mrs. Little. No woman should allow herself to get into such a condition because such troubles may be speedily overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for more than forty years has been restoring American women to health.

CHOOSE GRAY BRICK FOR HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING FRIDAY

Members of the city board of education selected a rough gray brick with which to build the new Central High school building.

Immediately after the selection of the brick, the Industrial Building Company of Dayton, which has the contract for the construction work, let the brick contract to the Gaddis-Harrison Brick Company which company furnished the sample.

The contract will call for about 400,000 brick for all the outside construction work on the building. The board then selected a mottled red brick as the type of brick for the construction of the new East High School building, the color matching better with the brick used in the present Lincoln building, to which the new structure will be annexed. The Stiles Company, of this city was given the contract for furnishing this work by the Building Company, the contract calling for about 100,000 bricks.

Members of the board of education made their selection from what was said by brick men, Friday, to be the most complete, effective and attractive brick sample display, ever erected in this section for any building project. Ten firms competing for the contract to furnish the brick erected a total of 66 panels of different kinds, shapes, types and colors of brick for the board to select from.

The panels were laid with mortar in succession on long shelves. The idea is that of the architectural firm, Preizinger & Musselman, of Dayton, and brick salesmen here, Friday, said it was the first time they had ever seen a similar exhibit. For the benefit of the public the panels will be left up over Sunday. The gray brick selected by the board will be found on the first row of panels, facing Detroit street. The brick selected for the East High building is in the last row of panels, facing the library.

From the Laboratory
Thomas A. Edison,
Orange, N. J.

Read this Letter

It is a reproduction of Mr. Edison's Letter to Rachmaninoff, the famous Russian composer-pianist.

Will any talking-machine company dare to let Rachmaninoff record his "Prelude in C Sharp Minor" and other famous compositions, which he has recorded for Edison? We fear that no talking-machine manufacturer will permit this deadly parallel. However, you do not have to wait. Rachmaninoff has recorded other selections for talking-machines. You can draw your own parallels.

Sergei Rachmaninoff, Esq.,
22 East 95th Street,
New York City.

My dear Mr. Rachmaninoff:

Under a contract between yourself and Thomas A. Edison, Inc., dated the 24th of April, 1919, it is provided, in effect, that the royalties payable to you on various selections, which you have recorded for us, shall continue, only so long as you do not make phonographic recordings of such selections for anyone else.

I shall be very glad to give you permission to record these selections for others, without the loss of royalties under the aforesaid agreement. This will give you the opportunity to record your "Prelude in C Sharp Minor" and other important works, which you have already recorded for us.

Yours very truly,

Thomas A. Edison

Come to our store and hear Rachmaninoff exactly as he plays; then listen to him as he sounds on a talking-machine.

The New Edison is not a talking-machine. It is so much different from all talking-machines that Mr. Edison has offered $10,000 in prizes for phrases, which will best emphasize this difference. Ask for folder giving full particulars.

LAWYERS HANDED TERRIBLE WALLOP

Washington, August 6.—The legal fraternity of Washington, which numbers such luminaries as Woodrow Wilson, Bainbridge Colby, Robert Lansing, A. Mitchell Palmer, Joseph P. Tumulty and a flock of lesser lights like ex-Senators and government chiefs was handed a terrible wallop today.

Announcement was made that an old statute of 1873 is to be enforced which prohibits officers of the government from prosecuting claims against the government, or an ex-officer from doing so for two years if the claim arose during his tenure of office.

This old statute is to be reinforced by a new law sponsored by the Department of Justice which would increase the time limit to three years and tack on a fine of $10,000 and two years imprisonment for violations.

Many officers of the Wilson administration have set up law offices here since March 4. Claims against the government—war and otherwise, are estimated to total $1,000,000,000.

The Stopum.

This club, as all experienced golfers know, has corrugated face, and I think of all the recent inventions—five years or so—in the game of golf the idea of corrugating the face of a club to impart backspin is the most useful. The club is, of course, used to stop balls on the approach.

The new idea was not quickly adopted, but is now so universally accepted by good players that one is simply astounded to learn that any prominent player does not carry one. In my own case the invention met a long-felt want. Throughout my golfing life I have centered my golf practice around the masher. I have never regretted this early turning of my thoughts to the masher, although I have found that the putter meant more in actual strokes. As the balls became faster I practiced putting backspin on the ball—and as I put a great deal of work on my practice—I succeeded as far as the medium allowed. But the balls became still faster and it seemed the greens were harder to make them catch on. I was not discouraged however, for all my life I have felt that the way to play golf was through the air where there was no rough ground to kick you off the line. In consequence of this belief there is today one really weak shot in my bag and that is the pitch-and-run shot from any distance. I want to go all the way to the green.

The masher cut-shot became less and less satisfactory and I found that the balls were not only increasing in distance but they were also diminishing in size. This decrease in size made it harder than ever to get under the ball to meet it properly for the backspin. As well as I had learned the shot I found to my dismay that I was half-hitting about one in three because of the difficulty of getting the blade accurately on the ball. As I knew that the absolute value of the cutshot was increasing each year I began to look around.

I sent to a factory and had a club made with a loft midway between a masher and a niblick. Then I went to work at once to master the shot, and I must say that there is not a more difficult shot in the golfers bag in learning this shot. I made lots of mistakes of course, but I have got it now and I consider it absolutely the prettiest shot in my bag. Step by step I shall try to describe in later articles how I learned to play it. There were many discouraging things about my learning, for in the meantime I was obliged to give up my masher and the shot that it had taken meant so many years to learn; shots, too, that had been associated with many of my early victories. It was like giving up old friends. In time, however, I discovered that it was fatal to try to force the 'stopum' beyond 150 yards. So I still have use for my masher for over this distance I can put my shots high enough in the air to prevent them from running much. And especially have I use for my masher when playing against the wind, for it is folly to play a stopum shot very far into the wind.

Questions and Answers.

Question—It seems impossible for me to keep from driving my tee shots too high in the air. Can you make any suggestions that will help me?

Answer—If you are using a driver which has a proper slant in its face then it is likely that you are teeing your ball too high. This is a very common fault, and one which results not only in poor play with the driver but in unsatisfactory results with the brassy. Try a lower tee and see if you don't get better results.

INTEREST AROUSED IN BASEBALL GAME

Baseball fans are manifesting much interest in the inter-sectional clash scheduled for Sunday when the St. Brigid's-Meteors and the Home Brews meet in their initial encounter.

With both teams going at a lively clip and taking on new material for the oncoming set-to, it looks now as if the contest might develop into city championship series. The Brews, although a new team, in the local baseball field, is already rated as one of the heaviest hitting clubs that ever played here and stands high in the opinion of opposition pitchers.

The Meteors have been together longer and base their prowess on more practice and a smoothly running machine that expects to take care of the Brew clouting. The bugs in machine are anticipating some real baseball when the two get together Sunday.

CIMEX LECTULARIUS

"I recently moved into a house, which has been infested with bed bugs for eight years. A friend told me of seeing a formula which you gave a long time ago. The friend couldn't give me very clear directions nor precautions, but said it was very poisonous."

Answer—I wrote about this subject a year ago and I make no doubt that the repetition of a few remarks will be appreciated.

The good housewife is terribly mortified by the creature's malodorous presence in her family's midst. But she is by no means always blameworthy.

Cimex may get into the traveler's trunk or satchel from an uncleanly hotel or sleeping car, or invade the home from the laundry that has been returned. In a railway car it has been observed to leave the clothing of a seedy party, travel across the aisle and find refuge in a gentleman's clothing. Or it may migrate through walls from one house to another, sometimes in a continuous caravan, especially when the dwellers of the infested house have moved away, thus cutting off its commissariat. It may then escape through the windows as well as walls, along water pipes or eave gutters to fallow fields and pastures as it were.

Apart from ordinary dwellings, log cabins easily become bug-ridden. Ships may entertain the bedbug in considerable degree. Poultry houses, dove cotes and the hiding places of bats may easily become infested with Cimex or some kind of poor relation to it. And swallows and sparrows' nests under the eaves, which are often alive with vermin may be their port of

TWO RICH MEN CONTRASTED—EACH A BIG EMPLOYER (By B. C. FORBES)

This is the story of two rich men, both very large employers.

One day I received an invitation from a man worth more than $100,000,000 to visit him at his home. His place is noted for its wonderful beauty, its stateliness, its dignity, its classical architecture. Inside, he began conducting me over his art gallery, which contained one of the most costly collections of paintings ever accumulated in this country. He conducted me to other rooms also containing famous works of art. The furniture, the floor coverings, the statuary, the ornaments and everything else were a delight to the eye. Exquisite taste was everywhere evident, he cost manifestly had been a matter of entire indifference.

The owner of all this made his money mainly from two basic industries. While he had surrounded himself with art and beauty and ideal environment he had never, so far as I know, spent $1,000 to bring to the workshops or the yards or the environment of his employes one suggestion of beauty or art or as much as a few flower beds. His work people spent their days amid grime and heat and dirt. Everything about their environment was stark ugly. In constructing the workshops not a single thought had been given to improving the lot of the toiler; the only thought had been for improving the volume of output.

As he passed in front of one especially famous painting, in which the central figure is a peasant, he expatiated upon the wondrous skill the artist had employed in depicting accurately and naturally the poise of the peasant. The thought instantly flashed through my mind: "You are tremendously interested in a toiler composed of oil and paint; but how much interested are you in many thousands of toilers composed of flesh and blood and mind and soul toilers composed of exactly the same stuff as yourself?"

It apparently never occurred to this inordinately rich employer to try to bring to the lives of his work people the slightest smattering of the beauty and art and agreeable environment that he demanded in such lavish measure for himself and his family. Apparently, he saw no connection whatever between the humble toiler on the canvas and the humble toilers in his factories. The one manifestly meant much to him. The others evidently meant nothing. And to be perfectly truthful, this man's workers never held him in any high regard, but rather looked upon him with ill-will and hate.

Another large employer invited me to visit his works and his home. All his factories were veritable palaces of glass, situated amid shrubs and flowers and lawns, with ideal roads and sidewalks. Outside and in, everything was spick and span. The facilities for relaxation had been given as much attention as the facilities for production. The huge hall—a building designed by a famous architect—was crowded at midday by workers who gathered for the daily entertainment. There were delightful lunchrooms, libraries, rest rooms, dental parlors, hospital facilities, a band, a chorus, educational classes, etc.

In contrast with the imposing factory buildings was the owner's home. It was a comfortable but wholly unpretentious old building. It nestled among giant trees and in front was an expansive lawn. As I arrived two golfers followed their balls to within a few yards of the front door, and on inquiring I discovered that the grounds were all thrown open and that a golf course had been laid out for the use of the people!

This employer also appreciates beauty and art and healthful environment. He appreciates them so highly that he has used a great deal of his money and still more of his time and thought to the bringing of beauty and art and healthful environment within reach of his own thousands of employes. He has not divorced the beautiful and other desirable things of life from the running of his business, but has infused them into it. He has spent more in beautifying his factories and the grounds—if you can call them his grounds seeing that the gates stand open to the public, with a sign that all are welcome to enter and enjoy them.

I don't expect that this man will leave any $100,000,000. He is more interested in toilers who are in the flesh than in toilers depicted on canvas. He is expressing himself, his character, his aspirations and his religion through his business activities, through his treatment of his employes through his mode of living. Incidentally, half the profits from his business are divided among those who help him to create the profits namely, his employes.

Which type of employer have we most need of today?

Today's Talk

by George Matthew Adams

A PRAYER

You—Somebody Who Knows—know how thankful that I am as other men, so that I may understand them better. How alike in mistakes made, and good things done.

How beautiful that I can see the same sunset that you have painted for all and wonder while the storm is on, trying to understand its fury as it flashes its teeth to the earth.

What a frail human-being I am. How frail everything is. How weak the strongest in life. How fascinating are the beaten things of the earth.

It is understanding that I would pray for most. And then I would take it and give it away!

I would not walk in pride, but in simple faith—believing. I want to be kind. I am a pupil. Please teach me aright. Let me go out into the big world each day not knowing too much—but enough.

Give me a few friends—"but those without capitalization." Make me a pal to the discouraged and a sort of silent leader to those who climb, but they separated ever so far.

Explain to me why you put such beautifully colored flowers in the ground, and why you made the trees so great, and why you put the thorns on the stems of roses. And tell me why the birds never had to take any lessons in singing—but just sing their own sweet songs year in and year out. Tell me why that squirrel stood up and walked so near to me today when I whistled to him. He seemed to understand something.

When I am most tired, I feel like doing most. I don't understand it. They told me when I was a boy that your name was God. I don't think it matters much what your name is, though, so long as I am able to translate a little of all that you are each day. I would like to do that. I see you in so many people and in so many things. That's the reason I have for believing in you. And I think that is enough, don't you?

I always feel best when I give most. So please give me a great deal to give.

There are other things, God—don't you fill them in, if you will. And bring them all to pass at the best time. That is all.

WHAT IS ONE EXPENSE MORE OR LESS TO A MAN WITH AN AUTOMOBILE, TO BE SURE?

1901--Twenty Years Ago--1921

The banks of the Little Miami river are now dotted with the white tents of numerous camping parties and some gay times are being enjoyed by the crowds in fishing, boating and other sports.

A couple of social events for Xenia will be two fall weddings. In September it is said that an Indianapolis man will wed a popular Xenia girl, while the principals in an October wedding will be a Xenia girl and a young physician of Dayton.

Mr. and Mrs. John McVay and son Clark, have returned from Idaville, Indiana, where they enjoyed a reunion of old friends and spent a few days in a pleasant manner.

While the Xenia School Board has about decided upon the plans for the new West Market Street school building, no contract has yet been made with the architects owing to the plans not being specific in certain details, and they were referred back to the firm, that these points might be remedied. As now contemplated, the building will cost about $33,000.

Active work was begun, yesterday north of Yellow Springs, for the building of the Traction line between Xenia and Springfield. Quite a force of men and teams are at work grading and it looks like the long-talked of road will be pushed to completion.

STOCKS

The improved aspect of some industries and easy money have been responsible for repeated slight advances in the stock list, followed usually by reactions. Gains did not hold consistently. Trading was largely professional, as hitherto. The largely favored group, due to improved June earnings the government's payment plan, and traffic increases. Weak spots are sure to develop, but generally speaking, the market shows an improved condition. A good many observers think stock quotations have sunk farther than conditions warrant and will rebound. Good bonds have appreciated in value under the influence of cheap money and the bond market has manifested considerable life.

GRAIN

With visible supply well above that of a year ago, country offerings gave indication of abatement, creating opinion that the crest of the farmers' selling wave has passed. Nevertheless, while marketing continues in fair volume, wheat can hardly assume a bullish aspect. Canada undoubtedly has an excellent crop, but by some estimates at 270,000,000 bushels. The Chicago elevator strike was finally broken with the men returning to work at a wage reduction. Unloading is expected to proceed rapidly from now on. Milling demand for wheat has been quite brisk, but exporters have shown a tendency to hold off until prices reach their lowest under pressure of the new crop. Wheat exports at 10,500,000 bushels during a recent week were among the largest for a single week in 1920 and 1921. Farmers who hold their wheat will almost certainly get higher prices later on, when the full force of foreign demand develops.

LIVESTOCK

The livestock markets entered August in much improved condition. All branches were more stable, according to one writer, than at any time in the past half decade. A heavy movement of lambs narrowed the spread between sheep and lambs, but the market absorbed these large receipts surprisingly well. Hogs continued to advance under liberal re-

COTTON

The government report putting condition at 64.7 as of July 25 came as a great surprise to the trade and advanced prices $4.50 to $5.00 per bale. The average guess had been 67.4. The government report was the lowest ever known for August, condition usually falling between 73 and 76 and sometimes exceeding 90. The reports predicted a crop of only 8,203,000 bales, as compared with the final crop of 13,365,000 bales last year. On the other hand, the world carry-over is put at 9,194,000 bales by Hester and at 10,530,000 bales by the Bureau of Markets. Whether cotton will get out of its rut now remains to be seen.

WOOL

Demand has centered in the finer grades of wool attaining fair proportions. Foreign markets have changed but little, prices holding steady. The United States government held its auction of low grade stock on August 4. The domestic woolen and worsted industry has staged one of the most remarkable recoveries during the past six months in the history of the textile trades. Machinery was operating at between 70 and 80 per cent normal in May. Mill stocks of wool are not large, but buying will be deliberate.

METALS

Slight but distinct improvement is visible in the iron and steel industry, and mills are increasing operations slowly. The railroads and construction industry have bought more freely than heretofore. Inquiries for pig iron have increased. Copper has been sold at 12c and even below and shows continued dullness.

Styles BY LENORE

What to wear that part of the season when the Summer is not quite ended and Autumn not yet begun, may be solved by a frock of Canton crepe, crepe meteor, or crepe de chine. The color may be black, dark blue or brown. A most satisfactory design for the purpose is the model shown today, with its pretty lattice work on the bodice. This is a very new and individual note that is borrowed from advance fall suggestions. The undervest and inner cuffs are of chenille dotted Georgette, ecru, with spots to match the color of the frock, and the edges are piped edged, or they may be delicately finished with a binding of the silk.

Another attractive plan for this frock is a combination of serge and silk, preferably navy blue, with vest in cherry red, henna, castor, gray or white. And there are many arguments in favor of using two or three vests in one's favorite colors.

PATTERN NO. 226.
A pattern for the above model (No. 226) can be obtained in sizes 36, 38 or 40, by sending to Lenore, 8 West 40th St., New York City, your name address the number of this pattern and the size required, and 50 cents in postage stamps. Be sure to keep this newspaper clipping of the sketch and description of the garment to use as a working model when the pattern reaches you—which will be within two weeks' time—The Editor.

TURKS ARE DEFEATED BY GREEK FORCES

Constantinople, August 6.—Fresh heavy defeats have been inflicted upon the Turkish Nationalist forces by the Greeks. Two Greek divisions have occupied Ismid, meeting no resistance in the whole surrounding area and then proceeded to enter the town of Veizirhan and Little. King Constantine's forces now command the southern exit of the famous Gheive pass. A decisive battle is believed to be impending.

SOMEWHERE

A torrid wind is blowing across the wilting world, the sun new curves is showing the skin's like hammered gold; but somewhere it is snowing, and men complain of cold. Somewhere the clouds are dishing all kinds of snow and sleet, somewhere the boys are wishing, while thawing out their feet, for weather fit for fishing, a sport that can't be beat. The weather's something awful, the pavements smoke and hiss, and man hands out a jawful of language, hit or miss, and says he has his craw full of climate such as this. But somewhere men are freezing amid the frost and snow, through arctic nights they're sneezing and colder they grow, and there's no way of easing the agonies they know. Upon the map I'm tracing the lands with arctic goods where famished wolves are racing in lonely neighborhoods, and polar bears are chasing the voters through the woods. The heat, in language spiteful, we roast till we're disgraced, but in those regions frightful where snowdrifts go to waste, they'd think it most delightful if they could have a taste. Somewhere men dress in leather to shield them from the blast, and have chilblains together in wildernesses vast; so let us prize this weather, which is too good to last.

REDUCTION

Judging from the number of letters I have received lately there is an increasing interest among my readers on the subject of reducing. I am always very glad to find this, for some how to me a fat woman is a pathetic object in these very hot summer days. There is never any reason why a woman should be fat. It is so easy to reduce if one will only put one's mind to it.

There are a few simple principles which everyone must learn, and after that the whole thing is only a matter of addition and subtraction. If you weigh more than you should you are eating too much. You may not want to admit it, few people do, but I am sorry to say the fact remains, nevertheless.

The easiest thing in finding out what you should eat is to make a study of what you are eating now. What you are eating now constitutes your maintenance diet, it is the thing that is keeping you too fat. Take a list of caloric values, lists which are published in this space from time to time, and by use of them find out just what the caloric value of your present diet is. That it is too much you will know from the fact that it is maintaining you at your present overweight. You will have to eliminate about 1,000 calories a day. You are probably eating 3,000 or more. These figures are very general but they will serve over.

you—as a beginning. Another time I will talk again about the actual caloric value of various foods. If you do not wish to make a study of these values you can cut down on the amount of food that you are taking. If you think you are eating more than 3,000 calories you will not have to do much studying to eliminate a third in the amount of food.

Girl: G. M. H., R. M. D.—To reduce that hips, roll back, forth over the floor a dozen times each day, when you have no corsets on. To reduce the arms, use all the exercises that will tense the muscles, such as those used in rowing. To reduce the abdomen, take stooping and bending exercises and wear a low cut corset, unless you are too stout all over, in which case you should reduce by dieting.

Anxious One: M. V. T.R., Heart-broken; Bebe; Dorchester; Nell.—Blackheads, pimples and sallowness come from internal disorder. The trouble may be a sluggish liver or an impacted colon. Some people are correcting this by taking three yeast cakes each day. Plenty of fruit and green vegetables will also help. Substitute bran for white bread and in all cases take a daily warm bath all over.

PRINCE A. RECORDS FASTEST TIME OF WEEK AT RACES

Two straight heat events and one that went five heats, marked the conclusion of the Greene County Fair races Friday afternoon.

A large final day crowd witnessed the closing day's speed events, making up for the discrepancy Wednesday, when threatening weather and promise of a heavy track kept many of the bugs away.

Prince A., hung the fastest time of the week in the 2:14 pace, which he won with the veteran, Goggin, in the sulks, in three straight heats. Prince A., took the last two heats in 2:10 1-2 after pacing the first mile in 2:15 1-4.

The other straight heat winner was Starkey, the well-known and well thought of Jackson, Ohio pacer, who walked away with an easy victory in the 2:20 pace, the opening event. Starkey was never in trouble, J. M. T. laying in for second position and Brookly Bally, being content with third place, and leaving the other pacers to fight it out for the small money.

The only real contest was in the 2:25 trot, which Eloise Ray won after five heats of real trotting racing. The filly from the Stokes stables came from the rear in the third heat, after finishing eighth and third and after Bula, with Joe Hagler, the local driver up, had won the first two heats, and copped the next three in order.

With Bula two heats to the good, it looked like a sure thing for Bula, when Hagler's entry broke on the first turn of the third heat, and Eloise Ray took the lead. Joe trailed the leaders for a half mile and then wisely laid his mare back content to drop the heat without running a chance and come back strong in the fourth mile.

The bugs were still for the Bula mare in the fourth heat to a large extent, but although Hagler made a valiant effort on the stretch he was unable to catch the fleet footed filly. The last heat was raced between the two heat winners with the filly, with Francis, the second trainer from the Stokes stable up, driving easily to a victory. The fourth mile cost Bula much reserve strength as she was forced to drive a wide and long mile, in order to contest with the victor in the home stretch brush. The split-heat event, however, made up for the short straight-heat races of the afternoon and furnished considerable wind-up excitement for the afternoon's speed events.

Among spectators in the quarter stretch Friday was Jack Galvin, Lima newspaper man, former editor of the Horse Journal published at Jamestown, and former promoter of the Red Letter Fairs in this section, including the Jamestown Fair, who is well known over the racing circuits of southwestern Ohio.

AUTO TRAILER MUST HAVE LICENSE TAG

Columbus, Aug. 6.—An auto trailer is a motor vehicle as far as licensing is concerned and must bear two license tags, one in front and one in the rear, Attorney General Price held yesterday in a ruling to Secretary of State Smith.

If an auto bears a manufacturer's or dealer's tag and the machine is being used for purposes other than sale, lease or other like disposition, the driver is operating as if he had no license and is subject to arrest, Price ruled.

'DON'T GIVE UP SHIP' IS PLEA OF NAVAL OFFICIALS

Washington—The battleship will stay.

This is the consensus of expert opinion here today, as Army and Navy officials digest the technical reports on the recent bombing tests conducted by the Navy Department.

It is true that the aerial bombers succeeded in sinking every type of craft from the submarine on up to the deadweight, Ostrifland, but these tests have not convinced aerial experts that the battleship is obsolete.

"Don't give up the ship!" is the cry of all experts after studying the technical reports.

The immediate effect of the bombing tests will be a great drive by the Navy to increase its aerial forces.

Within a short time official recommendations will be made to Congress for appropriations authorizing the construction of newer and larger types of naval aeroplanes. Secretary of the Navy Denby, it is learned is impressed with the fact that no battle fleet is ready for the fact unless it has a full complement of auxiliary air fighters.

Appropriations also will be asked for at least six aeroplane carriers to operate with the fleets. Naval architects are now working up plans for vessels of this type, which call for the construction of gigantic ships capable of carrying several squadrons speed equal to the maximum speed of aeroplanes and of maintaining a battle fleet when in fighting formation.

In view of the disarmament proposals which have been made by President Harding, considerable congressional opposition to further appropriations is expected, but it is contemplated of the naval experts that the disarmament conference will not provide for complete disarmament and that the United States is now considerably behind Great Britain in the matter of naval air force, particularly in the matter of aeroplane carriers.

The sinking of the ex-German ships has given new incentive to the experimental work of the Navy. Ordnance experts are at work endeavoring to devise a gun that will be capable of offering adequate defense against air forces, and at the same time they are work on armor experiments, devising new means of armor construction to add to the invulnerability of the battle craft against aerial bombers.

Efficient Housekeeping

BY Laura A. Kirkman

A SUNDAY NIGHT TEA

A good home Sunday Night Tea is the following:

Devised Tomato on Toast
Tiny One-Egg Muffins
Iced Cocoa
Angel Food Cake
Peach Mousse

Devised Tomato on Toast: Turn 1 can of tomatoes into the top of a double boiler and let heat, then add 1-2 onion grated, 2 tablespoons of melted butter, 1 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar and 3 eggs which have been well beaten but not separated. Stir until the eggs have thickened the mixture slightly then turn it into a covered vegetable dish or tureen. Previously prepare two pieces of toast for every person to be served, and place these pieces on a platter on the supper table alongside the covered dish containing the devised tomato. Have a pile of empty plates before you. To serve each person, take up a piece of the toast with your fork, dip it into the tomato in the tureen, turning it over in the liquid so that it will become well moistened, then place it on an empty plate with the fork; pour a ladle of the liquid over this moistened piece of toast and serve. The extra pieces of toast will remain on the platter until each person is ready for a second helping, when he will pass up his empty plate and be served as before.

Angel Food Cake: Beat the whites of 8 eggs until frothy; add to them 1 teaspoon cream of tartar and continue beating until stiff, then add 1 cup of sugar very gradually, beating constantly. Mix together 3-4 cup of flour and 1-3 teaspoon salt and fold these into the egg-whites. Last add 3-4 teaspoon of vanilla and turn into an unbuttered angel cake pan. Bake 45 minutes (possibly 50) in a moderate oven. After it has risen and begins to brown, cover it with a buttered piece of paper.

Peach Mousse: Dissolve 1 tablespoon of gelatin in 1-4 cup of cold water. Heat it with 3-4 cup of powdered sugar until dissolved. Then cool the mixture and strain it into 2 cups of stiffly-whipped double cream. Beat in 2 cups of raw peach pulp, turn into wet mold, and pack the mold in equal parts of ice and salt, allowing it to stand in this way from 3 to 4 hours.

Devised Food Cake is also delicious to serve with the mousse. To make this cake cream 1-2 cup butter and add gradually 1 cup of sugar. Beat the yolks of 4 eggs until thick and add to them another cup of sugar. Now combine these two separate mixtures in a medium-size mixing bowl and add to the bowl alternately 1 cup of sweet milk and 2-3 cups of flour which has been sifted with 5 teaspoons of baking powder and 1-1 teaspoon of salt. Add the whites of 4 eggs beaten stiff, 4 squares of unsweetened chocolate melted, and 3-4 teaspoon of vanilla. Turn into an angel cake pan and bake 50 minutes in a moderate oven.

If it is desired to serve sandwiches instead of the muffins called for in the above menu, the following are a good choice:

Raisin Sandwiches: Cook until thick 1-2 cup each of chopped seedless raisins and chopped walnuts, 1-3 cup of sugar, and 1-2 cup of boiling water, then flavor with 1 tablespoon of lemon juice or a few drops of lemon extract. When it cools it is ready to spread on the bread.

American Cheese Sandwiches: Cut crusts from thin, stale pieces of white bread and place between each two slices thinly-sliced mild American cheese, sprinkling the cheese with salt and cayenne to suit liking. Saute these sandwiches in a frying pan in butter until delicately browned on both sides. This melts the cheese slightly and makes a delicious sandwich.

THE NEW GENERATION

BY JANE PHELPS

MARGARET IS ABSORBED IN MOTHERHOOD CHAPTER 4

Margaret Hyden always had been yielding, so her child was a constant joy to her in that she was not.

"I do not want her to yield her opinion to others!" she declared to herself.

"That child sure has a mind of her own," Hannah said to her mistress one day. There nobody going to set on her!"

"I'm glad of it, Hannah."

"So be it. Girl-children have hard times enough even if they do get their own way."

Margaret Hayden had passed the 30-year milestone, epochal in every woman's life. Possessed of a dark, glowing beauty that most men would have admired had they been given a chance, she nevertheless held herself aloof from them—and so from the knowledge of her power over them.

If there was a romance in Margaret's nature, it had lain latent so long that she was not aware of its existence. She possessed all the virtues men look for in a wife, which made it the more remarkable she had escaped their notice. She had physical charm, a wonderfully womanly disposition, refined, cultured, charming, she remained simply Joan's mother, free of masculine attentions, untrammelled of love complications.

The flight of the years did not alarm her. Apparently she was satisfied to go on in her solitary way, unshackled by bonds of any sort, save those which bound her to Joan.

Strangely, there was no rift in the lute of Margaret's happiness. She desired nothing, longed for nothing save the happiness of her child, her undisputed companionship with the little Joan.

"She sure do have her own way," Hannah would say over and over when mother and child were together, Margaret was wax in Joan's hands. "She's a lil' imp, that's what she is, sure enough," but she chuckled that invariably followed when Hannah did not consider being an 'imp' altogether undesirable.

Joan never was refused answers to her questions, never told to 'run along and play' as children so often are. Margaret never was too busy to give her entire attention to the child, never too much occupied to answer patiently all questions Joan asked.

Would it seem that the child were selfish? Quite the contrary. She was an impulsive, generous, if inconsequential little creature. To do as she pleased was her inalienable right—so she had been taught; so she believed.

But her impulses were all toward the wholesome, the good. Not that she was perfect, far from it. She had temper, which she sometimes displayed—to her mother's horror but never to her correction. She was insolent always, but it was the outgrowth of her assurance that she was—as her mother had taught her—a real human being with the right to express herself.

"There's more of the good than the bad in her," Margaret mused. "She will come through all right."

At times Margaret wondered what her mother would say did she know of the sort of upbringing her granddaughter was getting. She smiled reminiscently as she recalled her own childhood, how every impulse was curbed as soon as felt, until she ceased to have any natural emotions of any sort.

She also recalled how terribly unhappy she had been in her childhood because she was not allowed to mingle with boys and girls of her own age in a free manner.

That gave her rather a shock—Joan was getting to be a big girl.

She must make friends so that Joan might have friends. Deliberately she commenced to cultivate a few of the women she had met who had daughters of Joan's age. She gave little teas and simple parties for Joan, to which she invited both boys and girls. She watched over them but in such a manner as not to make them feel chaperonage.

"Your mother is a brick!" one of the boys told Joan.

"Of course," was her answer. She might have added, "isn't she my mother?"

Those of the boys and girls she admired, Joan cultivated, to the absolute neglect of others. "They bore me to death. I shan't have them here again," this 12 year old girl said to her mother, and went unrebuked.

Then Joan did something that for the first time made Margaret bite her lips to hold back a reprimand. Tomorrow—Joan Has Her Hair Bobbed.

CHURCH PROPERTY WILL BE RETURNED TO CONFERENCE

The Christian Church, located on North Limestone Street, in Jamestown, has voted to return the church property to the Miami Christian Conference.

The action was necessary, it is said, preliminary to the sale of the property and a committee composed of Elmer N. Shigley, W. K. Shifflette and J. Q. A. Baker was appointed to handle the details of the sale.

The church voted to reserve the church bell, which is to be given to Dr. J. F. Burnett, of Dayton, former pastor of the church to be sent to Porto Rico as a memorial to David Paulin, one of the early supporters of the church.

Officers were elected as follows: Trustees—Elmer N. Shigley, Orville Huffman and J. Q. A. Baker; Clerk Mrs. Ella Walthall; Treasurer, Miss Louisa Sholey.
